Annihilate The Corrupt

Demon Hunter

Behind the eyes of my compassion lies a suffering soul
In my blood, a bitter darkness slowly taking it's toll
I feel the death of our connection and the fading of light
In the shards of sudden panic from choking on my lifeI see the scars of your addiction, the feeling you hide
A blackened heart from all the hatred you will never rewind
Within the depths of your depression, hear you pleading for help
Your just a shell of vacant ruin, a portrait of myselfI can't breathe alone
You can guide me homeI am the face of your affliction
Feeding new life through the cracks in your skullBeneath the skin of your aggression is a thickening fear
A swelling plague from every devastating voice that you hear
You feel the throes of contradiction in the world that you left
Another day in your delusion, the never-ending deathI can't breathe alone
You can guide me home
I can feel you here
You can draw me nearI am the face of your affliction
Feeding new life through the cracks in your skull
I am the pain of your conviction
Stabbing you right through the back of your soulThis is life, this is loveI am the face of your affliction
Stabbing you right through the back of your soul
I am the face of your affliction
Feeding new life through the cracks in your skull
I am the pain of your conviction
Stabbing you right through the back of your soulI can feel you here
You can draw me near Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/