You Can Dream

Black Mountain

You can dream, you can dream
You can dream, come on baby dream
You can dream, dream, dream, dream
Come on baby dream, baby dreamEmpty your lungs into neutral
Aeroplanes strangling the sky
Hostile translucent showrooms
Trapped by the fear in your mind
Never trust squares when surrounded
The circle is wide and so deep
Blessed are the ones who are shining
Blessed are the ones who still sleep
Never let your waking eyes rule all that you knowBang on the drum after midnight
Stalling moons' bodies piled high
Condescend your frozen horizons
Learn to kick when they teach you to cry
For there is truth in life above living
There is truth in the parts of your hearts
In dreams, we flash like a fever
In dreams, no masters no guards
When we ain't got nothing left to control
Let nothing implode past the ring
Floating the fighting and dying
Take breadth fly your own wingsNever let your waking eyes rule all that you know
You can dream, you can dream
You can dream, come on baby dream
You can dream, dream, dream, dream
Come on baby dream, baby dream
