

Where Is Here Now

Hardwell

I've awakened on a sidewalk on a street alone
City lights here, they blind me
Can't find my way home
All the faces that surround me
Stare with eyes so cold
To the stranger who is lost in a world alone Where is here now
I'm looking for answers
Without the right questions
It's hard to figure out Where is here now
I have no direction
Without your compassion
It's hard to figure out I am running with the light out
Through the avenue
Try to find my way back
To the world I knew Where is here now
I'm looking for answers
Without the right questions
I have no direction
Without your compassion
It's hard to figure out
