

You Can Run, But We'll Find You

Matchbook Romance

Have you, have you been keepin' secrets from me?
Hoped I wouldn't find out
And you'd just go free There's a whole world outside your window pane
And I've got scars to prove it
But you should have known,
You should have known,
You should have known,
You should have known Run
You can run
You can run
We'll find you Was is it everything you hoped it would be?
What kept your world spinning?
Left you diseased Your apologies will never sooth the sting
Just keep scratchin' our eyes out
You should have known,
You should have known,
You should have known
You should have known Run
You can run
You can run
We'll find you, yeah! Run
You can run
You can run
We'll find you
We'll find you
We'll find you!

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>