

Less of Me

Tori Harris

Lord, here I am
Here are my hands
they're fragile, they're small and they're empty but I give them to You Lord, here I find Here is my mind
It's ignorant, it's dim and it's prideful
But I give it all to You May there be less of me and more of You
May there be less of me my God
May there be less of me and more of You
May there be less of me my God
Because I'm small and I'm fragile and I'm empty
But I give it all to You Lord, I'll be still Here is my will
It's stubborn and it's selfish and it's weak
But I give it all to You May there be less of me and more of You
May there be less of me my God
May there be less of me and more of You
May there be less of me my God Love come quickly!
Fall upon me!
x3 Love come, love come So that there's less of me and more of You
May there be less of me my God
May there be less of me and more of you
May there be less of me my God
May there be less of me and more of you
May there be less of me my God
May there be less of me and more of you
May there be less of me my God Because I'm ignorant, I'm dim and I'm prideful
Oh I'm stubborn and I'm selfish and I'm weak
But I give it all to You
