

Undecided

James LaBrie

Seems that we've lost our innocence
The pulpit the teachers have warned us
Blindly accepting their words as truth
And taking advantage of our trust
Don't expect an answer

Can't help that you're suspicious
Something is missing
So you can't decide

But you're letting them guide you
How can you listen these empty words?

In their messages meanings
Where's the beginning if there's no end?

Seems you're undecided
Fancy dress contrived rhetoric speech
The unlettered masses conforming

Rank and file members fearing change

But questioned their own faith this morning
Don't expect an answer

Can't help that you're suspicious
Something is missing
Still you can't decide

But you're letting them guide you
How can we listen these empty words?

In their messages meanings
Where's the beginning if there's no end?
Seems we're undecided
And those that will listen

They see their world

In these messages meanings

But I can't accept this as proof

I know neither one's provided
How can we listen these empty words?

In their messages meanings
Where's the beginning if there's no end?
Seems we're undecided
And those that will listen

They see their world

In these messages meanings

But I can't accept this as proof

I know neither one's provided
