

A Hoax to Live For

Dead Poetic

You're all just staring, angry faces
Begging for a place to die.
Or I could leave you where you stand
Up upon that hill that'll fall to the wayside This hoax to live for
Dictating regulation of thoughts
This hoax to live for
The very plague that kills us all
The very plague that kills us all And in this scene, I play the protagonist
And as well I play the opposed
Or I could leave you where you stand
All alone in the hall, your trap for the meantime And you call this home
No home I've ever known
No home I've ever known This hoax to live for
Dictating regulation of thoughts
This hoax to live for
The very plague that kills us all
The very plague that kills us all This isn't war
But these are still battles
This isn't war
But these are still battles This isn't war
But these are still battles
And battles make it all die out This hoax to live for
Dictating regulation of thoughts
This hoax to live for
The very plague that kills us all
The very plague that kills us all
