Silence

Pulp

At first / I could say / I could say or do / just whatever I liked / you would / you would Not / you would not answer / that's alright / oh / I can't believe in the morning of your Silence / you will never cut / you will never cut the threads of your reliance / you can /
You can deny / you can deny that I was anything to you / but I know / I know in my mind /
I can see the scars / the scars I've left on you / I can't believe in the morning of your Silence / you will never cut / you will never cut the threads of your reliance / when we Are passed in the street / you can try and cover it up with whatever you like / lipstick, Mascara, that kind of thing / you won't fool me / you won't fool anyone / they'll take one

Look at you / and they'll know the kind of person they're dealing with / you can laugh
About it / you can pretend that you weren't involved / but you know what went on in that Room that night / you know what was said / ans you know you'll never forget / I hate the Sight of the face I have destroyed through our alliance / I won't forget how loved I once
Was and how much I loved your eyes / so the bedroom becomes a funeral parlour once again /
See the corpse of former feeling laid out stiff and white for all to see / so / this is
The end / but we'll still be good friends, won't we? / we'll still be good friends, won't
We? / we'll still be good friends, won't we? / goodbye.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/