1000 Miles

Inner Thoughts

Now that its over, now that youre not here
I have to start over but where to begin
Im lost inside my headI cant remember a day without you here
Piecing the puzzle of memories forgotten
And all that was left unsaidI dont know where your heart is Dont know if Im too late
But I will find a wayCan you hear me now through all that the world is screaming?
My voice will reach you somehow, somehow
Can you hear me now with every word Im breathing
When youre a thousand miles away?I knew when I saw you the day that we first met
Id say anything just to stop your world and my love has never left
I didnt have all the answers, didnt know our stories end
But did my words find you then?Can you hear me now through all that the world is screaming?
My voice will reach you somehow, somehow
Can you hear me now with every word Im breathing
When youre a thousand miles away?You always listen to words left hurting
Nows your chance to heal a heart still yearning
Youre the best thing that still is happening to meYou always listen to words left hurting
Nows your chance to heal a heart still yearning
Youre the best thing that still is happening to me, me, me
Im still callingCan you hear me now through all that the world is screaming?
My voice will reach you somehow, somehow
Can you hear me now with every word Im breathing
When youre a thousand miles away?You always listen to words left hurting
Nows your chance to heal a heart still yearning
Youre the best thing that still is happening to me, me, meYou always listen to words left hurting
Nows your chance to heal a heart still yearning
Youre the best thing that still is happening to me, me, me

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/