

March

El Chikaly

My strength, my strength fades
My strength fades away
Slowly with the setting sun
The night brought
Its darkness and its storms
And the floods that came
Reflected a dull moon
Violent winds raged
Beneath the stars that didn't shine
Emptied
Of myself
I fell
To the ground
Slowly through the destruction
Came a single quiet
Voice
And the breath of His words
Consumed
The night and brought strength I have never Felt on my own
And He held me up
Until I could walk again
And promised
To stay by my side forever
