A Soft Place To Fall

Nelson Rangell

Daylight has found me here again
You can ask me anything, but where I've been Things that used to matter seem so small
When you're looking for a soft place to fallDon't misunderstand me, baby, please
I didn't mean to bring back memories
You should know the reason why I called
I was looking for a soft place to fallLooking for a soft place
Nothing more than a small taste
Of a love that ended long ago
Looking for a place to hide
A warm bed on a cold night
I didn't mean to hurt you, no, no, noLooking out your window at the dawn
Baby, when you wake up, I'll be gone
You're the one who taught me after all
How to find a soft place to fallYou're the one who taught me after all
How to find a soft place to fall

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/