You'll Never Take That Away

Jamie Mcdell

Can't you see I'm just a writer
Learned enough to never be a liar again

Don't you know I'm not an actress
Taught myself to never ever try to pretend

Don't get me wrong
I, I have what you don't

I have a heart that's covered in scars
I got a beach, a melody, and a guitar
Got a dream that's bigger than me
I've got a rhyme, a rhythm, and time on the sea
You'll never take that away from me

I can see you with your judgement
Don't you know that's all you'll have to show in the end

Don't you know I'll go my own way
No surprise that I don't really care what you say
Don't get me wrong
I, I have what you don't

I have a heart that's covered in scars
I got a beach, a melody, and a guitar
Got a dream that's bigger than me
I've got a rhyme, a rhythm, and time on the sea
You'll never take that away from me

Can't you see I'm just a writer
Learned enough to never be a liar again

I have a heart that's covered in scars
I got a beach, a melody, and a guitar
Got a dream that's bigger than me
I've got a rhyme, a rhythm, and time on the sea
You'll never take that away from me
You'll never take that away from me
No, no, no
You'll never take that away from me

No, no
