The Atlicic

My girl I am your everything
I am your forever
But what are you?
To me you won't last a week If only you knew how fast forever will be
When you're the one who cares about this Misunderstanding you fell in love with
This concept of us (I couldn't hold onto) You've fallen for this Way too hard
And I can't find the strength
To bring you to your feet again When my bones become weak
They feel like anchors to me
Like a burden in my skin
It's like I'm lost at sea Take me as I am, or there's the Door, you're not locked in.
I'll see to it that we won't be friends,
That's expired, along with my patience. When my bones become weak
They feel like anchors dragging my feet,
Like a burden in my skin,
I won't let you, I won't let you... When my bones become weak
They feel like anchors dragging my feet,
(It's like I'm lost at sea)
Like a burden in my skin,
I won't let you (I won't let you) back in.
