Black Dog Panting

School Is Cool

Don't wanna talk about it
Don't wanna hear about it
Don't wanna think about it
I wanna shrug it off
I wanna make light of it Let it fall between the cracks I wanna laugh about it when years have passed Saw a black dog painting by the house tonight red tongue lolling eyes all white I can't turn a corner just can't let my guard down Can't even close my eyes without it being thereDon't wanna talk about it Don't wanna hear about it
Don't wanna think about it
I wanna shrug it off
And I know deep down that I haven't changed at all but I'm slowly getting better at covering up Underneath a flimsy pavement
We buried, smiling, a raging bog
We were cocky, young and callous
I guess we had nothing else to do And all the while it lay in waiting and took on the form of a charcoal dog
