Breathing Out

Doveman

The darkness tells me that I've waited long enough
But I'm not leaving till there's nothing left to see
She comes calling after hours I'll still be waiting Inset to the man to wait with me

Said dear love that it's over for today
Curtains drawn, the lamp is burning though
Well who can look you in the eyes and understand
Who will keep the secrets that we know

And still I can see

You're leaving now in the end
and all falls down and I'm here
Just breathing out
Again

Baby come and carry me away
To the place known to only you and me
Maybe time will passes by and never know Sometimes stillness is the only way to be

But still I can see

You're leaving now in the end
and all falls down and I'm here
Just breathing out in the end
and all falls down and I'm here
Just breathing out in the end
Just breathing out
