

Where Were You?

Every Avenue

Home for the weekend, lookin' for a good time
Of all the numbers, you end up callin' mine
Ready or not, I think Ill give this a shot
I should know better than to give her what she wants I picked her up and she was three-fourths gone
She passed out before we even got to talk
All I want to know is Where were you when I needed you most?
Why did you leave me alone?
We gave up before we gave it a chance
And I dont understand Back to where we left off, baby
How you been and Whats been new with you lately
Just forget it, its the same old runaround
You build me up just to let me down, down Where were you when I needed you most?
Why did you leave me alone?
We gave up before we gave it a chance
And I dont understand Where were you when I needed you most?
Why did you leave me alone?
We gave up before we gave it a chance
And I dont understand Just forget it, its the same old runaround
Just forget it, just forget it
Just forget it, its the same old runaround
Just forget it, just forget it Where were you when I needed you most?
Why did you leave me alone?
We gave up before we gave it a chance
And I dont understand, I dont understand Where were you when I needed you most?
Why did you leave me alone?
We gave up before we gave it a chance
And I dont understand Where were you when I needed you most?
Why did you leave me alone?
We gave up before we gave it a chance
And I dont understand Home for the weekend, lookin' for a good time
