Red Moon

Laura Gibson

Oh red moon
A warm glow
To where we'll go from here
I do not knowA porch light
A bitter song
For whom the caring words
I cannot tellI would
Long to
Carry your torch
And drink of your poetryOh red moon
Oh mirror ball
Arms bent to pull you closerA lantern
A slow dance
You put the courage
Back into my stepsI would
Long to
Carry your torch
And drink of your poetryI would
Long to
Carry your torch
And drink of your poetryI would
Long to
Carry your torch
And drink of your poetry
