This Conversation Is Over

Alesana

Take everything away from me silent angelApathy cries out from your lungs, indifference reeks of fiction
Time will tell how far you will go
I can't see why you'd run and hide excluding such complacence
As tears rain from bloodshot eyesTake everything away from me silent angel
Leave me nothing to remind me of this time now lostThe air now reeks with the presence of your vile voice
As your smile masks the advance you keep, I am not your trophy
The air now reeks with the presence of your vile voice
As your smile masks the advance you keep, I am not your trophyPlease, try to say more carefully you no longer need me
This back and forth is killing me
The only eyes you'll look into are those in your reflection
You are the means of my endThis conversation is over, it's over
Your truth is a deception meant to poison meTake everything away from me silent angel
Leave me nothing to remind me of this time now lostI can't seem to believe you ever cared for me, this conversation is over
Your empty words now drift away as fragile whispers
I saw the day when the fire left your eyes, your tongue fell still Your treason is silenceTake everything away from me silent angel
Leave me nothing to remind me of this time now lost

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/