

Say You Will

Fleetwood Mac

Something in you brought out something in me
That I've never been since
That part of me that was only for you
That kind of romance Comes only once that kind of love
That kind of fever dance
That you love because you
Become someone else in an instant Say you will, say you will
Give me one more chance
At least give me time to change your mind
That always seems to heal the wounds
If I can get you to dance Something in you put a hold on my heart
It's hard to believe now
Here is a place that will never be dark
I remember that place That kind of touch
Electricity of love
That certain kind of grace
That you love because you
Become someone else in an instant Say you will, say you will
Give me one more chance
At least give me time to change your mind
That always seems to heal the wounds
If I can get you to dance
