Pedro the Lion

We were walking, holding hands
With our bare feet in the sand
And the seagulls overhead
When I broke the spell and said"I could never divorce you
Without a good reason
And though I may never have to
It's good to have options"But for now, I need you
But for now, I need you
But for now, I need youBut it was only in my head
Because no one ever says
What they really mean to say
When there's so much at stake
