

Where I Want to Be

Beau Badrick

Dear god,
why am I not sleeping when the sun's gone the sky's alive and dreaming but I'm not

And dear friend,
why are we so distant I'm alone again
I've lost whatever hope I had
I hope I'm wrong

And save me now
there's something left and break me out keep my head in check now

'Cause where you are is where I want to be now
And where you are is where I want to be
And I'm starting to see that it comes down to me
But where you are is where I want to be

And dear sky
why do all the clouds refuse to let you shine tonight of all nights

And save me now,
you're all I've got you say it's over but I know it's not just yet,
just yet

'Cause where you are is where I want to be now
And where you are is where I want to be
But where you are is where I want to be

And dear Kate, today I found your letters and I read them straight through

And I don't know why I left you

And save me now,
you're all I've got
you say it's over but I know it's not just yet,

'Cause where you are is where I want to be now
And where you are is where I want to be
But where you are is where I want to be
