Elevate

Copia

Unveil the hidden all
Conjure it up to the surface
We've let it go for far too long
The time to evolve is upon us

We're living on a fault line
Of bad design
Tremors are knocking our senses
Come on let's find a way
Of escaping this place of decay

We'll rise above the vanity
When we give it all away
We'll rise above tragedy
When we give our all
We'll elevate our intention
For our salvation

Once I conceded
Surrendering all control
Now a constantly slowing ride
Starts to drag behind
I can see the anarchy overflow
We're taking a stand on the fault line
Come on let's find a way
Of escaping this place of decay

I'm over the thorn in my side
Always stealing the limelight
We never see eye to eye
There's a need to divide
We're falling for the last time
