You've Passed

Neutral Milk Hotel

The lady is dying
She bends back like a wave
As her spirit is climbing
Through the hospital wall and awayAnd I wanted to hold you
As you made your escape
But now I should have told you
When your eyes were alive and awakeAlways in life we all must make this mistake
And so I go it alone
And the pressure is great
I hold on to my own
Oh please oh don't go awayI wanted to know you
Before you started to fade
But I gave everything to
A lie and a farce and a fake
