

Angels

Mayday Parade

Three years is something that I call love
When the phone calls and photographs were never enough
To save the heart that's been broken so close to screaming
This can't be happening I must be dreaming
What's the worst that could happen?
I never knew
When all I ever wanted was to get away from you
But now the possible's impossible and I can't refuse
Grab all your drinks, Raise all your glasses Let's toast to the lucky ones
To the girl that just broke my heart
I can't breathe after all that you've told me
You took my heart and made me melt again I could never imagine the end of this way
After all that we went through now fighting through the pain
It's like this heart that's been broken so close to screaming
Was been ripped from my chest and I can't stop the bleeding
Now we all fall for the bad ones
That could just break us cause we're so young, dumb and vulnerable
Young and vulnerable Here's a toast to the lucky ones
To the girl that just broke my heart
I can't breathe after all that you've told me
You took my heart and made me melt again I can't breathe after all that you've told me
(You ripped out all these pages)
(Our book was overrated)
(This brings up all these questions)
You took my heart and made me melt again
(Tell me what just happened I'll say) I'll put your picture in a frame
That stands at the side of my bed
So whenever I get sad I can stare at your face
And open pain that I won't forget
When all I remember is talking is cheap and your lies were expensive
And God only knows when I'll come to my senses
Now I can't breathe at all
(Now I can't breathe) Here's a toast to the lucky ones
To the girl that just broke my heart
I can't breathe after all that you've told me
(You ripped out all these pages)
(Our book was overrated) happened
(This brings up all these questions)
You took my heart and made me melt again

(Tell me what just happened)
I can't breathe after all that you've told me
(You ripped out all these pages)
(Our book was overrated)
(This brings up all these questions)
You took my heart and made me melt again
(Tell me what happened and I'll say)
(I can't)
Tell me what just happened

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>