

Some You Win

Nina Nesbitt

I've woke up on Sunday, lift my head
Friends on the floor around my bed
Head's hurting from the night before
Check my phone to find four missed calls
Oh, it's over with you now Last night you turned off the switch
I caught you tongue-tied with that bitch
No point making up an excuse
I don't need your lies to get me through
I said it's over with you now For the last time I've been fooled by you
And there's something you should know I don't need you to be my blanket
Someone else could keep me warm
This is not the way I planned it
Someone else might come along
I don't need you to pick the film now
Someone else can write the script
This is not the way I planned it
Some you lose but some you win
Hey hey, but some you win
Hey hey, but some you win
Hey hey, oh oh
But some you win You go to write an apology
But I say I'm right pretend it's fake
I've got my friends and I'll be fine
Fine is what you'll get parking on my line
Yeah it's over with you now For the last time I've been fooled by you
And there's something you should know I don't need you to be my blanket
Someone else could keep me warm
This is not the way I planned it
Someone else might come along
I don't need you to pick the film now
Someone else can write the script
This is not the way I planned it
Some you lose but some you win
Hey hey, but some you win
Hey hey, but some you win
Hey hey, oh oh You rolled the dice and it landed on a three Caught between your love and me I don't need you to be my blanket
Someone else could keep me warm
This is not the way I planned it

Someone else might come along
I don't need you to pick the film now
Someone else can write the script
This is not the way I planned it
Some you lose and some you win I don't need you to be my blanket
Someone else could keep me warm
This is not the way I planned it
Someone else might come along
I don't need you to pick the film now
Someone else can write the script
This is not the way I planned it
Some you lose and some you win
Hey hey, and some you win
Hey hey, and some you win
Hey hey, oh oh
And some you win
