Don't Neglect The Rose Lynn Morris Band Written by Emma Smith

There stands a rose down in your garden

You left it there so all alone.....

It's been neglected & feels unwanted Since no love to it is shown

Its beauty now is, fastly fading Once it was the brightest red now It's withered its head is bowing and no kind words to it are said

Please don't neglect the rose in your garden

Show it your love..... every day.....

It will bloom for you in all its beauty

And... it will not.... fade away break, mandolin /guitar

I guess by now you know my story

Don't forget a love so true

For it could prove to be the sweetest flower

That could ever bloom for you...

It could be your mother sister or brother husband wife or little child or it could be your own true lover You've neglected all the while

Please don't neglect the rose in your garden

Show it your love every day

And it will bloom for you in all its beauty

And it will not fade away music tag/fade
