

Another Source Of Light

Threat Signal

turn through the pages in my head, remember what we had break through the shell you hide behind, into the skin and see what the truth holds inside, and see what's behind your new eyes and i will fight to keep myself alive, without you i will find another source of light

desolve the memories in your head, pretend like i was dead and when you're looking for a friend, you'll turn around and miss all the people that you had, and now they won't cover your back find your way back home find another source of light
