No Blue Skies

Lloyd Cole

You wanna leave me baby be my guest
All I'm gonna do is cry
And then I'm gonna find there's someone else
And tear the stars out of the skyLooking for something when there's nothing there to be found
Make it easy on yourself
Go out and find your body someone else
And tear the stars out of the skyBaby, you're too well-read
Baby you're too well-spoken
And baby, you're too pristine
When I cry, do you feel anything?Baby, you're too well-readYou wanna leave me baby be my guest
All I'm gonna do is cry
And then I'm gonna find there's someone else
And tear the stars out of the skyBaby, you're too well-read
Baby, you're too well-spoken
And baby, you're far too clean
When I cry, do you feel anything?Baby, you're too well-read
Baby, you're too well-readYou don't need me anymore
You don't need me anymore
They say storms are right for summertime
Well, baby I'm long goneWhatcha gonna do
When you open your eyes?
It's a brand new day and baby
No blue skiesBaby, you're too well-read
Baby, you're too well-spoken
And baby, you're too pristine
When I cry, do you feel anything?Baby, you're too well-read
Baby, you're too well-spoken
Baby, you're far too clean
When I cry, do you feel anything?Baby, you're too well-read
