

Maybe Someday

Amy Rivard

Been a long time
Since I'd last seen your face
Your smile, your laugh, the way you made it okay
Now you're here but, now you're not alone
So now I'm left to think, maybe someday Maybe someday, I will find someone like you
Maybe someday, Love won't make me blue
Maybe someday, Maybe Someday
Maybe someday I'll find someone like you. When we first met,
Did we ever hit it off
I thought you could be the one for the rest of my life
We were just friends,
But I always wanted more
So I guess I'm left to think maybe someday Maybe someday, I will find someone like you
Maybe someday, love won't make me blue
Maybe someday, Maybe Someday,
Maybe someday I'll find someone like you. She walks down the aisle dressed in white
Like a picture in a magazine
Now, you're headed for your wedding night
A tear in my eye, as I watch the limousine
In my mind, it'll remain and old fantasy
But I'll never give up love's somewhere for me. Now, when we meet
You're hand in hand on the street
You smile, you laugh, you look better than okay
It gives me joy to see a love like yours
So now, I leave and hope maybe some day Maybe someday, I will find someone like you
Maybe someday, love won't make me blue
Maybe someday, Maybe Someday,
Maybe Someday I'll find someone like you
Maybe someday I'll find someone like you
Maybe someday, I'll find someone like you.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>