

I Love the Night

Brynn Elliott

Today under the sun, I wonder what you're doing while I'm gone
With my feet in the warm sun, I feel so cold and empty I just need your hand
Too many days without your touch
I follow the path that leads back to us
I want the life of winter kissing when I'm alone it's you that I'm missing then I'd walked across the milky
hey Lights in the buildings in the fog remind me of the nebulas you dreamed of and when the stars hit your eyes just right, I remember why I love the night.
Searching to hear your voice whispering words of gentle love
I'm so tired here on my own, I like it more when we're together alone
I want the life of winter kissing when I'm alone it's you that I'm missing then I'd walked across the milky
lights in the buildings in the fog remind me of the nebulas you dreamed of and when the stars hit your eyes just right, I remember why I love the night
When you live in a dream on a cloud above the world and I'd wake up next to you
I want the life of winter kissing when I'm alone it's you that I'm missing then I'd walked across the milky
Lights in the buildings in the fog remind me of the nebulas you dreamed of and when the stars hit your eyes just right I remember why I love the night.
