

A Chance

Torn In Two

when did this world grow cold when did my life fade away when did this light grow dim i thought that it was here to stay i searching for the sun i looking for the light this world is what i found but i know it's my time

we listen our voice
it's time to begin
no turning back
till we see the end
i want to know
just who i am
i need to see you
through this again

i fought through all my life for i had never see destruction crawling down the path after me
but there's a chance to live a chance to come alive
i'm learning faster now that i know it's my time

we listen our voice
it's time to begin
no turning back
till we see the end
just who i am
i need to see you

we've gotta break away
we know our chances now so let's not say and wait

we rising from the ground

we listen our voice
it's time to begin
no turning back
till we see the end
i need to see you
