Party Girl

Nanci Griffith

She was a party girl, now the party's over
She was a beauty and that's changing too
Now she's barefoot and having babies
She was a party girl, now the party's overNow her husband watches TV
After working hard all day
And she's crying into her pillow
'Cause it's night time and she wants to playShe was a party girl, now the party's over
She was a beauty and that's changing too
Now she's barefoot and having babies
She was a party girl but the party's overOh, she can't cry to mamma
She can't go home to daddy anymore
Oh, they both tried to warn her
She was throwing away her sweet young life
When she walked out that door
