

Every Song I Sing

Jah Cure

In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within
In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within The birds and the bees they cling
Together sweet honey they bring
Just notice everything
From winter to spring He made the raindrops fall
He quench earth's thirst for all
How could I deny
Jah Rastafari When them system fail
He keeps an eye on them
There's no question why
I hail Rastafari In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within
In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within Around Rastafari throne
That's where I wanna build my home
Where there's always love
And nothing to prove Whether you are tall
Or whether you are small
Jah seh equal rights
And justice for us all When them system fail
Jah keep an eye on them
There's no question why
I hail Rastafari In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within
In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth and lies within Around Rastafari throne
That's where I wanna build my home
Where there's always love
And nothing to prove 'Cause whether you are tall
'Cause whether you are small
Jah seh equal rights
And justice for us all 'Cause when them system fail
Jah keep an eye on them
'Cause how could I deny
The Rastafari? In every song I sing, I just got to hail my King
He is the truth that lies within
