

Ellie

Elliot Matsu

Light a candle in the church
And watch the angels watch us
As the conversation turns
Thought we lost our faith in humankind
Opened up our eyes to see the blind
Have left their open eyes behind
I listen to your whispers on the phone
Dreaming of your body under the sheets with me
Dreaming about home

Ellie please remember me when you need someone to hold
Ellie please remember me when my kiss is three weeks old
And even when you're feeling lonely you never are alone

The neighborhood's gloomy in the fall
But your designs are bigger than all the Pretty people hanging on your wall
You were looking for something more
And I will show you every single day
Just what I came here for

Ellie please remember me when you need someone to hold
Ellie please remember me when my kiss is three weeks old
And even when you're feeling lonely you never are alone

The moment's broken and everything we know comes shining through
My eyes are open and I'm falling into you
I know it's hard and I know you cry
I know you want so much out of life
And if it's the only thing I do I wanna give those things to you

Ellie please remember me when your spirit starts to wane
Ellie please remember me when your passion starts to fade
And when the others all desert you I'll be the one who stays

Ellie please remember me when you need someone to hold
Ellie please remember me when my kiss is three weeks old
And even when you're feeling lonely you never are alone

---

Lyrics submitted by tkazzi.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>