

Machine

Michael Blaney

MACHINE

(After being robbed and identity theft numerous times in last few years, you learn a lot about things you wish you never had to know. And one of them is how gross some banks and insurance companies can actually be and how the people who work there are cold and heartless and somewhat soulless.)

You were born into this your life force has been bled your now part of the grid we are the ones you trample to death
machine
machine
machine
words are useless
you cant compute sentences you are wired
to the main frame
machine
machine
machine
i see all the trees
whats left at least
the wind blows through me whats to become of we
of we
us
will we rust
your heart beats twice a day once to lift us up
the other to blow us away

Lyrics Submitted by Michael Blaney

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>