Human Love

Chroma Key

You?ve waited for so long
To be where you are and where you?re coming from
And you gave it all so much
In return for human love
You?ve waited all this time
But the sweetest thrill is the one you?ve yet to find
Then you?re starting to believe
So long as it may seem
When you?ve waited for so long
To be where you are and where you?re coming from
And you gave it all so much
In return for human love, in return for human love
In return for human love
And all the pleasures that you?ll find

Don?t expect a thrill like the blind leading the blind
To a world where you belong
For a moment then it?s gone, gone
When you?ve waited for so long
To be where you are and where you?re coming from, yeah
And you gave it all so much
In return for human love, in return for human love
In return for human love, in return for human love, love
When you?ve waited for so long
To be where you are and where you?re coming from, yeah
Then you gave it all so much
In return for human love, in return for human love
In return for human love, in return for human love
In return for human love
