Blue Skies

Sully Erna

I'm further every day from what I used to be
I left a life behind that's no longer me
And through the open road I know I lost control
But now it teaches me how much I, how much I don't knowCan you take me away to blue skies?
Can you promise me you'll try
And if you take me there to blue skies
I know that I will always feel your love,
Can you take me away to blue skiesExcepting what I used to be and I know I lie,
But despite of what you think I've grown million times
And maybe I ended up like you said there is hollow, broken shell
All I know is I won't live inside your inside your burning hellAnd if you take me there to blue skies
And can you promise me you'll try
And if you take me there to blue skies
I know that I will always feel your love knowing than I'mTaking in all that I can spitting out of lesser men a selfish pride
Just let it be a taped on the inside Taking all I can throwing away this lesser men a blacken heard all for a partCan you take me there to blue skies
Can you promise me you'll try
And if you take me away to blue skies
I know that I will always feel your love
Can you take away me to blue skies oh
Take me away from blue skies oh
Take me away to blue skies
