

Unknown Road

Wolfbrigade

So you're currently content with your surroundings

 You possess a vague sense of accomplishment

 You give all you had to give, did you give conservative

Think that all the years that passed you by we're all well spent Pictures of everyday life spark memories

 And certain things pull triggers in your mind

 What would be different now if you were there than here

What passages, what fantasies lie just beyond the unknown road Do you know, the miracles that could be found

 They're waiting down the unknown road, so it goes

 A few more cornerstones that could be yours Ever get the thought you were mistaken?

 Ever think about the stones you've left un-turned?

 More chances slip away with every passing day

 Suffering with cold you're so afraid, you might get burned And wondering can take it's toll yeah

 And wondering you can rack your skull

 And wondering can send your imagination up a tree

 Wondering what fantasies lie just beyond the unknown road Do you know, the miracles that could be found

 They're waiting down the unknown road, so it goes

 A few more cornerstones that could be yours Time is right now of the essence

 Time is right to learn your lessons

 Time is all on your side

 Time is all that you have left Things you've, you've contemplated

 The unknown road is one

 Things you've, you've contemplated

 The unknown road is one

 Things you've, you've contemplated

 The unknown road is one

 Things you've, you've contemplated

 The unknown road is one

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>