

Memories

Los Lonely Boys

As I'll lay here in my bed
Racing thoughts run through my head
I just saw you passing by
You stopped to look me in the eye, oh, no I thought I'll leave it up to time
To somehow shake you from my mind
Your kisses, soft and your eyes so deep
Let's not forget your pretty lies to me 'Cos I, I thought that memories died
And I, I guess they know when to hide
I wanna forget you but how could I?
I thought that memories died I've forgiven everything
Oh, I can't forget the pain
Your lies, they harmed my memories
Even though you're gone, oh Well, I know from time to time
That you have me on your mind
Oh, I loved you tenderly
Oh, somehow you slipped away from me I thought that memories died
And I guess they know when to hide
I try to forget you but how could I?
I thought that memories died, ohh I thought that memories died
I thought that memories died
Thought that memories died
I thought that memories died
I thought that memories died
