

Oh My God (Feat. Lily Allen)

Mark Ronson

Time on your side that will never end
The most beautiful thing you can ever spend
But you work in a shirt with your name tag on it
Drifting apart like a plate tectonic It don't matter to me
'Cause all I wanted to be
Was a million miles from here
Somewhere more familiar Too much time spent dragging the past up
I didn't see you not looking when I messed up
Settling down in your early twenties
Sucked more blood than a backstreet dentist It don't matter to me
'Cause all I wanted to be
Is a million miles from here
Somewhere more familiar And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home
And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home
And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home Great rulers make for greater glory
The only thing growing is our history
Knock me down, I'll get right back up again
I'll come back stronger than a powered up Pac-Man It don't matter to me
'Cause all I wanted to be
Was a million miles from here
Somewhere more familiar And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home
And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home
And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home
And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from home
And oh my God, I can't believe it
I've never been this far away from
