Three Words

Before You Exit

When the sun shines through my window,
I always think of you.
You've got the eyes of an angel,
you're every dream come true.

That night, goes through my head.
I try to rewind.
My girl, you're just,
one, one, one of a kind.

When I give up, and fall down,
you always get me through.
It reminds me of our love,
and everything with you.

When it comes, to times like this,
I love what you do.
It's three words in every language,
it's how much.

When I look across the skyline,
you're runnin' through my mind.
When trees sway in the nighttime,
you're the one I find.

As the years go by slowly,
I want to hold you close.
I love you so much.
Girl you'll never know!

When I give up, and fall down,
you always get me through.
It reminds me of our love,
and everything with you.

When it comes, to times like this,
I love what you do.
It's three words in every language,
it's how much, I love you.

I love you.

When I give up, and fall down,
you always get me through.
It reminds me of our love,
and everything with you.

When it comes, to times like this,
I love what you do.
When I give up, and fall down,
you always get me through.

It reminds me of our love,
and everything with you.
When it comes, to times like this,
I love what you do.

It's three words in every language,
it's three words in every language.
It's three words in every language.

It's how much, I love you
