Three Peaches

Neutral Milk Hotel

So wake up, run your lips across your fingers till you find
Some scent of yourself that you can hold up high
To remind yourself that you didn't die
On a day that was so crappy, whole and happy, you're aliveYou're in the bathroom carving holiday designs into yourself
Hoping no one will find you but they found you
And they took you
And you somehow survivedSo wake up and if the holidays don't hollow out your eyes
Then press yourself against whatever
You find to be beautiful and trembling with life
Because I'm so happy you didn't die

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/