

Rocket Surgery

Amy Kuney

Verse 1:

You've marched
To your pomp and your circumstance
Bravely
You're starched you're a formal affair and I
Can't breathe
You're smart you know all those big words
And their meanings
But you aren't very good at remembering
Small things

Verse 2:

You say that you love me but I ask you
How much
So you spread your arms wide till behind you
Your thumbs touch
And you hold that position as I add it all up
Oh, in cold hard mathematical terms you're
In love

Chorus:

So hold me, don't think too hard about it
Would common sense allow it?
You wait too long and you'll lose me
Just do it when you get the urging
Oh it's not rocket surgery
When you know you love someone it's easy

Verse 3:

Your book heavy head is so weighted with
Deep thoughts
As you lay in my lap and we struggle with Small talk
Try writing it down but you trip on
Writer's block
So we just hmmm mmm mmm
On and on and on and on

Bridge:

Were a pair you're smart, I'm romantic
Kiss like you care, your mouth is mechanical
Words are air, over my head they blow
So blink once if you like it
And blink twice if you don't
Three times, if you love it
And then just keep them closed

(Bridge)(Chorus X2)
