The Thoughts That Give Me the Creeps

Hellogoodbye

I woke up tired and feeling old
And I wondered why my bed was cold
And I thought could you have gone
And if so where and how long
And why would I let you go
Why would I ever let you goOh but sometimes my mind
Can tell my heart a yes, no
Like sometimes I might wake up
Old and all aloneOh no, what if I never knew your name?
Oh my god, the thought's insane
What if your love is not the same
As it seems inside my brain?
What if you're not really in my sheets?
Oh, just the thought gives me the creepsI woke up young in lover's love
And I felt my luck and I felt your touch
And my skin, it wondered how
Yeah, my skin, it wondered how Could you be touching me right now
When in my sleep you can't be foundOh but somehow something
Has carried our love through the years
But somehow, oh I still carry on
But in my fearsLike, oh, what if I never knew your name?
Oh my god, the thought's insane
What if your love is not the same
As it seems inside my brain?
What if you're not really in my sheets?
Oh, just the thought gives me the creepsOh no, what if I never knew your name?
Oh my god, the thought's insane?
What if your love is not the same
As it seems inside my brain?
What if you're not really in my sheets?
Oh, just the thought gives me the creepsOh no, just the thought gives me the creeps
Oh no, just the thought gives me the creeps
Oh no, just the thought gives me the creeps