

That Boy (Langer & Winstanley Mix)

Lloyd Cole

Even though the skies are blue
Don't we let the sun shine through
Because he is a jerk I guess
Does that make him love you less
Could you forgive that boy
Could you find some part of your aching heart
To forgive that boy
Could you take him home
Could you hold him in your arms
Until the morning comes
When he's all cried out
Could you be that girl
What if it were you who fell
Would he have you go to hell?
Because he is a man that's true
Now wasn't she a woman too?
Could you forgive that boy
Could you find some part of your aching heart
To forgive that boy
Could you take him home
Could you hold him in your arms
Until the morning comes
When he's all cried out
Could you be that girl?
Could you forgive that boy
Could you find some part of your aching heart
To forgive that boy
Could you take him home
Could you hold him in your arms
Until the morning comes
When he's all cried out
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Could you be that girl
Yeah yeah yeah

Songwriters

TODD DAVID CERNEY, NANCY MONTGOMERY Published by

Lyrics © DEWALDEN MUSIC INT'L. INC. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>