One

Ashley Maher

Iâ€™m dream dancing at twilight with the moon on dewy breath my head is wrapped with sundown between this life and the kiss of death weâ€™re rising like a campfire flame and itâ€™s in the name of the sun when we are summoned to come all we hear is, â€œone.â€• when the big big day begins the dawn will never need break and all this talk talk talk of grace and sin

will up and fly away

chorus
all I hear is â€œoneâ€•

Iâ€™m dream dancing at twilight no flowers in my hair my food is only music and the open air good and evil, future / past night and day or moon and sun no, when weâ€™re summoned at last all we will hear is, â€œoneâ€• so many rivers beckoning so many willing to take you home donâ€™t fear some phantom final reckoning go on, surrender yourself to the foam

all I hear is â€œoneâ€•

Iâ€™m dancing, lost at twilight in a dervishistic spin I feel the sirens flowing out and the silence flooding in donâ€™t say, â€œit canâ€™t be like that.â€• donâ€™t tell me, â€œNo, itâ€™s not yet begun.â€• Iâ€™m being summoned right now â€˜cause all I hear is, â€œone.â€• we wait in deserts we thirst in dusty caves searching for heaven above ground while deep beneath us itâ€™s right here, subterranean one one one one one one one

chorus
