Ayria

Just when I think it's getting better,
I relapse back to this place where the scenery has changed, now it's terrifying
How can I go back when it's much too late?
Piece by piece, bit by bit
My heart aches and I feel sick
There are things you say and things you can't, things you threw away and things you want back
The fact that I've lost you, erases all my sanity Seriously, how could anyone carry on like this?
I'll never look at things the same because of you
And I'll never get that moment back I shared with you
It only hurts when I remember
I know you're trying to make it better
Bit by bit my heart breaks
Your voice repeats, and I can't take it anymore

Don't compromise
Save yourself, I'll always be here
Don't say goodbye, I'm not through with you Don't compromise, don't say goodbye
I tried and tried but my head is full of memories and sleepless nights, an endless cycle I've tried and tried,
but these thoughts just drag me down
It only hurts when I remember
I know you're trying to make it better
I can not steer this ship without you
There's no light guiding me to shore
I'm just left drowning in these nightmares
Where will I go... I don't know
Let it go, can't let you go
Let it go...
It only hurts when I remember
I know you're trying to make it better
