

Let Me Break

Emigrate

I would live for you and break my heart in two
I would give for you like only fools would do
I would hear you out and tell you all I could
I would take your doubt and show you what I should
Let me break, let me break you down
For your sake, I will break you down
I would try for you, try to walk you through
I would fight for you to prove that I am true
Let me break, let me break you down
For your sake, I will break you down
Break, break down, break, break down
I would choose for you, alleviate your pain
I would lose for you again and again
Let me break for your sake
Let me break, let me break you down
For your sake, I will break you down
Let me break, let me break you down
For your sake, I will break you down
Break, break down, break, break down
