Lost In Time

BlackBud

There's a knock outside my door, it's you again
There's a kiss that lets me know, this love won't end
There's a laugh, there's a touch, then a smile and we're making love
And all is perfect in my lonely world again
As we lay we make a plan for a life together
Holding on with all our might for worse or better
I can't believe, I can't conceive all the time that you're not with me
But in a flash I'm in this lonely room again
I don't wanna stay here lost in time
I don't understand this heart of mine
I keep holding on to fantasy
Never letting go of you and me
I don't wanna stay here lost without you
There's a house up on the hill I hear the laughter
And our children seem to grow each year much faster
We're alone now in this emptiness and love still grows
But only visions of a life that should have been
I don't wanna stay here lost in time
I don't understand this heart of mine
I keep holding on to fantasy
Never letting go of you and me
I don't wanna stay here lost without you

You are the only one I'm holding down for always
My heart, in the time of light, shinning bright in your black eyes
So far I can't let go, I won't let go and that's why
I won't face reality till love brings you back to me
I don't wanna stay here lost in time
I don't understand this heart of mine
I keep holding on to fantasy
Never letting go of you and me
I don't wanna stay here lost in time
I don't understand this heart of mine
I keep holding on to fantasy
Never letting go of you and me
I don't wanna stay here lost in time
I don't understand this heart of mine
I keep holding on to fantasy
Never letting go of you and me

I don't wanna stay here lost in time
I don't understand this heart of mine
I keep holding on to fantasy
Never letting go of you and me
