Bedroom Eyes

Laura Veirs

Been traveling all too long this bear-cat trail
But the love in me's grown stronger than this steel rail
That I ride back to your bedroom eyesBeen gone so long baby I wrote you this love song
My heart the engineer now she's running strong
Taking me back to your bedroom eyesBedroom eyes, bedroom eyes
Brighter than this starlit summer skyMy cheek against this blackened boxcar dear
It's dirty and it's cold but the coast is clear
I'm coming home back to your bedroom eyes
